PROF C A SHEPPARD

(1921-1979)

Born in Bangalore in 1921, Colin Antony Stuart Sheppard was educated at St. Bede's School, Loyola School and Presidency College, Chennai. He joined St. Berchmans as a Lecturer in English in 1943, and became the Head of the Department in 1949 when Prof M P Paul retired from service. He left St. Berchmans in 1961 for St. Joseph's College, Devagiri. He passed away on 11 May 1979. He has his final rest in the West Hill Cemetery on the outskirts of Calicut. Lectures in Grammar and Idiom, Towards Better English and A Sense of English are some of his important works. Prof Sheppard was an inspiring teacher and helped others shape themselves as good teachers. By dint of hard and steady effort he developed into an authority on English Grammar and did all he could to help his colleagues master the language. He was a writer of books and taught others how to write them. He was a delightful speaker, and inspired quite a few to become good speakers. He directed Shakespeare's plays and helped many to become good actors. An erudite and Inspiring teacher, Prof. Sheppard was a noble and dignified human being as well, whose memory is ever fresh in the hearts of his students and colleagues

National Webinar Disabled Bodies and Embedded Self

Disability Studies is an emerging interdisciplinary field of critical inquiry and activism. It counters the popular view of disability as a case of personal, biological, psychological and aesthetic tragedy and examines the cultural and political factors involved in the formulation of the concept of (dis) ability.

The Department of English, St. Berchmans College (Autonomous), Changanassery welcomes your participation in the National Webinar on “Disabled Bodies & Embedded Self” on 28 and 29 July 2020 (2.30 pm to 4.00 pm) to dwell on some of the contemporary research concerns in this field.

The iHumanities College at UWTSD Lampeter is pleased to invite registrations for an Online Summer School on Philosophy and Literary Theory.

THE ORGANISING UNIT – ABOUT THE iHUMANITIES COLLEGE

The iHumanities College is based at the birthplace of higher education in Wales and the oldest degree-awarding institution, with lecturers that are not only specialists in their research area but experts in distance-learning provision. We have been delivering distance-learning programs and modules for about 30 years. Indeed, distance learning is not something we started since Covid but a long time before the pandemic, recognizing the advantages that distance learning brings in terms of flexibility and bringing together an international cohort of students.

Since UWTSD Lampeter opened its doors almost 200 years ago, we have been delivering excellent teaching in Humanities subjects as well as undertaking research in a wide range of overlapping disciplines. With such a wealth of experience behind us, we know what works. We have a firmly established reputation for delivering small group teaching; teaching which enables our lecturers to respond to the needs of every single one of the students. Studying at such an established University, you can expect no less than a truly rewarding experience.

Here at Lampeter, we focus exclusively on Humanities subjects. This focus allows us to foster a multidisciplinary research environment in the Humanities, as well as offer a wide mix of online extra-curricular activities as part of our iHumanities Activities Academy. And with teaching expertise that is as established as the Lampeter Campus itself, our students are in expert hands, enjoying courses which have been written and developed by the lecturers themselves. We offer undergraduate programs and Masters programs in a wide range of Humanities disciplines, both online (from a distance) and on campus.

Further, in our teaching of mature students as distance-learners, we recognise that our students often have other commitments and, with the Covid-19 pandemic continuing to have such a massive impact on our students, we are running a summer school for postgraduate students. We pride ourselves on our constant enterprise in furthering the study and research opportunities for our students, and this summer school is just one of those opportunities.

CO-HOSTING PARTNER

Department of English, St Berchmans College, Changanassery, Kottayam, Kerala, India.

ABOUT THE iHUMANITIES SUMMER SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY AND LITERARY THEORY 2021

The School is intended to be a lecture-based, theory-oriented course seeking to advance debates and understandings on a wide array of critical enquiries about various domains ranging from Shakespeare Studies to Environmental Humanities and a range of research areas in Philosophy. To complete the Summer School, full attendance is required. Students are welcome to attend without full attendance, but this will not lead to a certification of completion.

There will be a reading list for the program and the participants are expected to find the time to read through the required texts and participate in the discussions. Our lecturer team for the School are all world-renowned, eminent scholars in their respective domains and form a transnational pool. The timetable of lectures will be flexible with lectures taking place throughout July, often on weekends.

Report

A five-day international online Faculty Development Programme (FDP) in behavioural economics was organised successfully by the Department of Economics, St Berchmans College, Changanassery in collaboration with the Kerala State Higher Education Council. The programme addressed the essence and relevance of behavioural economics and promoted experimental research among the academic community. This course was aimed for teachers, research scholars and students of various universities and colleges across the globe. There were 320 registered participants for this programme which included 150 faculty, 46 research scholars and 124 students from different Universities and colleges from India and abroad. Out of this 245 participants are eligible for the certificates. The sessions were live streamed through Google meet and YouTube platforms. The footages were made available in the official YouTube channel of the college 'BTV Academics' for further reference. Attendance and feedback were taken every day using Google form. E-certificate and printed certificate was made available for the attendees who had sufficient attendance and marks in evaluation quiz.

Date wise brief Report for each of the five days online FDP programme is given below:

Date: 22nd August 2020 (First Day)

The programme began at 2.15 pm with a silent prayer and Dr. Anila Skariah, Assistant Professor, St Berchmans College hosting the event. It was followed by the welcome address by Prof. Johnson K Joice, Head of the department. In the inaugural address, Hon. Principal Dr. Jacob Mathew M congratulated the department of economics for organising the first online Faculty Development Programme in the history of St Berchmans College. He appreciated the initiative and highlighted the importance of behavioural economics. Topic for the first day of the international FDP was 'Introduction to Behavioural Economics' and the resource person was Dr. Ashish Kulkarni, Assistant Professor, Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Pune. In his lecture Dr. Kulkarni introduced behavioural economics and its basic concepts to all participants. He spoke about two systems of mind, system 1 and system 2 and has explained various Behavioural experiments conducted by Nobel prize winners Richard Thaler, Daniel Kahneman and others. He did answer all the questions raised by the participants. Attendance was taken through Google form and the session drew to a close at 4.06pm.

Day 1 lecture- YouTube link <https://youtu.be/LmZMyM23JpE>

Date: 23rd August 2020 (Second Day)

The second session began at 2.17 pm. Dr. Anila Skariah welcomed the gathering and gave some general instructions. The guest speaker Dr. Ashish Kulkarni discussed about 'Decision making under Uncertainty: Heuristics And Biases'. The lecture was truly a walk through the biases and fallacies that exists in the field of behavioural economics. He explained about different types of heuristics with real life examples, which helped all participants to have a good understanding on the topic. He never forgot to give 5 minutes break every 40 minutes after answering the questions. Dr. Kulkarni concluded this interactive lecture at 4.07pm.

Attendance form was distributed and Dr. Shinu Varkey proposed the vote of thanks. He thanked Dr. Kulkarni for his fairly good introduction to behavioural economics and expressed his delight by commenting that "your theory regarding attention span fails atleast in our case". The session was concluded at 4.09 pm.

Day 2 lecture - YouTube link <https://youtu.be/mDm2YDY23tc>

Date: 24th August 2020 (Third Day)

The third session of the international FDP began at 11.30am with a new guest speaker. The introduction to the speaker was given by Richie Dilip Kurian, Assistant professor, St Berchmans College. The topic for the third day of FDP was 'Experimental Economics' which was delivered by Ms. Junofy Anto Rozarina, Lecturer, University of Zurich, Switzerland. The lecture was very beneficial and provided an insight into the theoretical and unexperimental methods in economics. The idea of Randomised Control Trial(RCT), criteria to select a sample, limitations of an experiment and how to identify them were also explained. It was followed by a Q&A session. The session came to an end at 1.30pm.

Day 3 lecture- YouTube link <https://youtu.be/gHutWZUW500>

Date: 25th August 2020 (Fourth Day)

A one-hour session was organised for the fourth day which was again addressed by Ms. Rozarina. The meeting began at 11.30am and topic of discussion was 'social preferences'. The social preferences were explained with help of some economic games like Dictators game, Ultimatum games and others. Classex, an initiative to conduct lab experiments was introduced to the participants which provided a hands on experience on the said games. Queries were answered and the attendees got a clear picture on the process of undertaking an online experiment or lab experiment. The session ended at 12.32 pm.

Day 4 lecture- YouTube link <https://youtu.be/u5adEW1sdP8>

Date: 26th August 2020 (Fifth Day)

On the final session of the five-day FDP Ms. Junofy Anto Rozarina discussed about 'Behavioural Economics in public policy'. The lecture began at 11.30am and Ms. Rozarina explained the different ways to run a research study in behavioural economics. Several researches and real-life experiences were shared to show how researches generally look like. She also explained the irrational behaviour of people and how "Nudging" could be used to influence their decision making, thereby helping in effective implementation of public policies. The lecture was followed by a Q &A session.. At 12.55 pm, Dr. Anila Skariah gave the instructions of the quiz and the link for the same was shared. Then, she proposed the vote of thanks. Dr. Anila expressed her gratitude to Ms Rozarina for her amazing lectures and thanked the attendees for making the FDP a grand success. The FDP came to an end at 1.00 pm.

Day 5 lecture - YouTube link <https://youtu.be/BZ6p7vp4c6c>

Conclusion

This international online FDP received an overwhelming response with an active participation of 320 people from the academic circle. It succeeded to enhance the knowledge and skills of participants to conduct researches in behavioural economics. Amazing feedbacks were received and the whole programme was well appreciated by the participants..

Dr. Anila Skariah, Assistant professor, St Berchmans College hosted the programme in a wonderful way. Also, the technical team had worked efficiently for the smooth functioning of the programme.

Types of Plagiarism Practice Activity

Scenario # 2

Mary has one more class in her bachelor's program, and it is the one she has been dreading the most. Her friend suggested that she buy an essay from a website like CourseHero.com, UKEssays.com, or StudyMode.com. She feels a little guilty, but buys her final paper anyway.

What type of plagiarism is being described? >>

Copy & Paste   Find & Replace   Sharing Work   Self-Plagiarism   Improper Citing   Purchasing
